

Attaching the Cellutronics P1047 adaptor cable to your data device.

The internal antenna of the data device needs to sit directly under the P1047 coupling pad as shown. (The internal antenna of the data device is normally located on the topside of the data stick at the end, when it is plugged into your PC as shown.)

1. Make sure the coupling plate is tied firmly to the device.
2. Make sure the coupling plate fully covers the device, starting from the end of the device as shown.
